

Updating VMware Horizon Client on personal Windows and Mac devices.

If you are connecting to your VDI using your own device, you'll need to make sure you have version 8 of VMware Horizon Client in order to get the "fully optimized experience" with Teams.

To check what version you have, click on the arrow pointing downward in the upper right corner of the VMware Horizon Client and select "About VMware Horizon Client."

On Windows it will look similar to this:

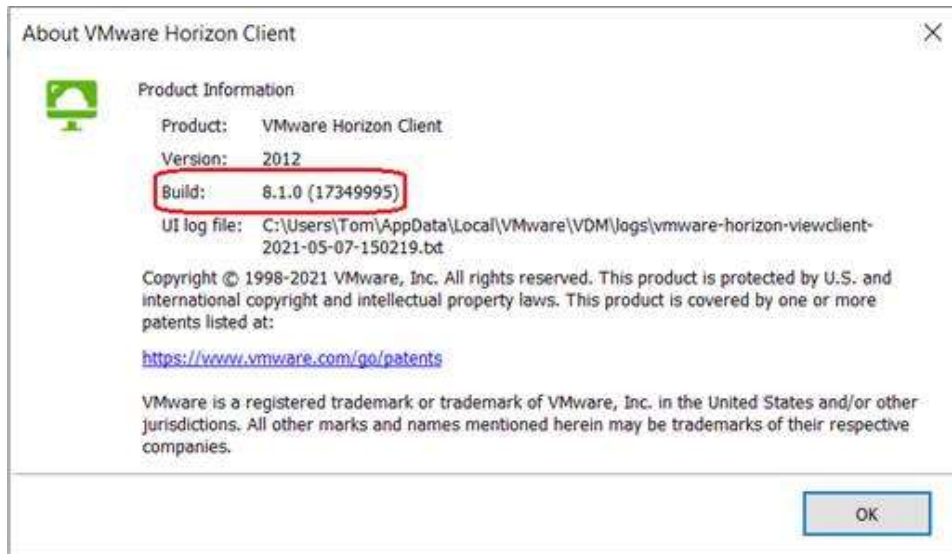

On Mac, the menu will look similar to this:

If the build number starts with an 8, you have the right version.

On Windows the “about” window will look similar to this:

On Mac the “about” window will look similar to this:

If the build starts with any number less than 8, you will need to update it. Simply click on “Software Updates” or “Check for Updates” in the same menu you clicked on “About VMware Horizon Client” in.
